“Give A Day, Get A Disney Day” Volunteers Excited to Help Bethany

Moline, Illinois – Volunteers are rolling up their sleeves and lending a helping hand at Bethany for Children & Families (Bethany) as a part of a new Disney program to inspire one million people to volunteer within their communities. Individuals and families are actively signing up for volunteer opportunities in exchange for a free one-day admission to a Walt Disney World® Resort or Disneyland® Resort theme park.

Families across the Quad Cities and surrounding areas are contributing their time and effort to wash and sanitize visiting room toys, organize and fold clothes in Bethany’s clothing pantry, prepare mailings, and bringing in basic, critical items needed for foster care families and new teen parents. These activities give parents a chance to talk with their children about giving back to their community and to promote volunteerism.

“Bethany has received an astonishing response to the number of individuals offering their time and resources to assist the children and families we serve,” said Bill Steinhauser, President/CEO of Bethany for Children & Families, “The community-wide volunteer effort has assisted us in carrying out our mission to ensure kids are kept safe and to help parents care for their children.”

For more information or to register for an eligible volunteer service, please visit www.bethany-qc.org/volunteer or contact Katie Nelson at 309.736.6644.
